Federal Regulations require all institutions of higher education to monitor Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) and ensure that students receiving financial aid are making progress towards degree completion. Your academic performance is reviewed each semester to verify that you have completed the required number of hours (pace), maintained the minimum grade point average, and have not exceeded the maximum number of cumulative attempted hours allowed.

Graduate and Law students who are not meeting the pace or cumulative SAP standards after one semester of warning lose financial aid eligibility for federal student loans and work-study. Ineligible students have the right to appeal. SAP Progress appeals are denied or approved on a case-by-case basis. Final decisions are based upon your written appeal and the documentation submitted. You must provide details of the extenuating circumstances related to your situation.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Requirements:

- Grade Point Average: Students-at-large and graduate students must maintain at least a 3.00 cumulative GPA (CGPA). Law students must maintain at least a 2.20 CGPA.

Note: Failure to maintain the grade point average requirement also has implications regarding academic status. For additional information on GPA and Academic Status, see "Academic Probation and Dismissal" in the appropriate catalog.

- Rate of Completion: A student must successfully complete at least 67% of the credit hours attempted. Graduate courses in which grades of A, B, C, P, S or IP have been earned are considered to be successfully completed. Enrollments resulting in withdrawals, incompletes (grades of I or IN) and courses in which grades that are not passing have been received are not considered successfully completed but may be counted in the hours attempted. Law courses with a grades of A, B, C, D are included in earned hours.

- Maximum Timeframe Requirement

Federal law limits the maximum timeframe for which a student can receive federal financial aid including student loans. To continue to be eligible for federal aid, total hours attempted must not have exceeded the maximum number of credit hours established for their program and listed in the following table. Maximum timeframe exceeds minimum program requirements and can accommodate electives, internships, disruptions in enrollment, changes in concentration, and work on thesis or dissertations with careful planning. Student-at-large (SAL) hours and credit hours accepted for transfer courses are included in hours attempted.
