The questions that follow are intended as sample questions, and do not constitute a required list. These are examples that hiring departments and search committees can use to help them assess candidates’ commitment to and experience with creating inclusive and equitable educational and workplace environments.

These samples include a range of questions that might be asked of people applying for all kinds of positions, with various levels and types of responsibility. Not every question is appropriate for every position. In addition, there are many different ways to ask questions seeking particular information, so some of the questions may be similar but with slightly different emphases. Review the questions to see how they are designed, and see whether you find any that are particularly appropriate for the position you are filling. You may adapt questions to make them more relevant to the functions of the job. You may also write your own questions that are tailored to the needs of your unit. We have provided some options for wording [in brackets] that may help in adapting questions for different roles and responsibilities.

COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY QUESTIONS (i.e. mindset, attitudes, philosophy)
