Announcing the 4th annual

Gayle Dubowski Fellowship

The Department of Anthropology announces a fellowship named in memory of NIU Anthropology major Gayle Dubowski

The $500 fellowship is available to any NIU undergraduate Anthropology major to use to participate in anthropological research. This research can include participation in an NIU sponsored field school, another archaeology or ethnographic field school, or to undertake other academic research or study abroad. The funding is provided as reimbursement after the money has been spent, so the student must save and submit receipts.

To apply send a one page description of your project or field school to Dr. Thu, Stevens 102, Anthropology main office.

Deadline: February 15, 2012 for use of the funds in summer or Fall 2012.
