Pre-Conference: Dr. Don Hellison

College of Education Professor at University of Illinois at Chicago and Co-Director of the Teaching Personal and Social Responsibility (TPSR) Alliance. Hellison has given keynote addresses, presented at professional conferences and conducted workshops for teachers and youth workers in most of 50 states, across Canada and Israel, Korea, Ireland, New Zealand, Australia, England and Spain. He has published six books, numerous articles and book chapters. His work focuses on teaching life skills and values through the TPSR model, especially for high-risk underserved youth, and has influenced Saskatchewan PE curricula for many years. Hellison has received many awards, including AAHPERD’s highest honour, the Gulick Medal and the International Olympic Committee’s President Prize.

Keynote: Dr. Paul Wright

Associate Professor of PE Teacher Education at Northern Illinois University. A Masters degree in Kinesiology and Ph.D. in Curriculum Design informs his practice of promoting positive youth development and teaching life skills. Wright is regarded internationally as a leading scholar on the Teaching Personal and Social Responsibility (TPSR) model. He is the recipient of a Fulbright Research Award as well as grants and evaluation contracts from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, National Association for Sport and Physical Education, and the American Association for Physical Activity and Recreation.
