Burnish your resumé
Add a Southeast Asian Studies minor to an undergraduate degree or a graduate certificate to an advanced degree and pull your resumé to the top of the pile. To learn more, visit the CSEAS website or stop by CSEAS at 520 College View Court. Undergraduates may make an appointment with Outreach Coordinator Julien Ehrenkönig at ehrenkonig@niu.edu; graduate students should contact Assistant Director Eric Jones at iloveroti@gmail.com.
1. This week’s lecture: Language, identity in the Thai diaspora
Thai language professor Kanjana Thepboriruk will present “Thai in Diaspora: Language and Identity in Los Angeles, California,” at noon Friday, Sept. 25, in Room 100, Campus Life Building. Originally from Bangkok, Thepboriruk received both her master’s and PhD in linguistics from the University of Hawai’i-Manoa. To order an Indonesian lunch, submit an online request by 6 p.m. Thursday at CSEAS Brown Bag Order. Orders must be cancelled online by 10 a.m. Friday. Cost is $5 for students and $6 for faculty, staff and others. Payments may be made in cash or by check. For lunch details, e-mail cseasbrownbag@gmail.com.

2. Travel funding deadline extended for COTS meeting NEW
The deadline has been extended to Friday, Sept. 25, for travel funding for the Oct. 23–24 Council on Thai Studies (COTS) meeting at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. The Thai Studies Fund Committee (on behalf of the NIU Thai Studies Committee) will consider applications for up to two NIU students to receive $300 to attend COTS in order to present work involving international research and training in Thai studies. COTS is an informal organization of Midwest Thai studies scholars founded at NIU in 1972. Graduate students are encouraged to submit papers (email conference coordinator Jeffrey Shane at shane@ohio.edu). Applications for student funding must be submitted by Sept. 25 and must include the following: a concise presentation description, a copy of the acceptance letter from COTS conference organizers, and a letter of support from a principal academic adviser. Successful applicants must present their work and participate for the duration of the conference. Address applications to the Thai Studies Fund Committee and email to CSEAS associate Chalermsee Olson at eteolson@niu.edu.

Kong Rithdee, deputy life editor of the Bangkok Post, will be the conference keynote speaker. Rooms have been reserved at the Ohio University Inn on campus; deadline for discounted hotel registration is Sept. 23 (mention COTS when registering); call 866-593-6661. See conference website.

3. SEA Club: Bonfire, mixers, culture and things that go bump in the night NEW
Southeast Asia Club events are the places to be this fall. In addition to regular club meetings every second Tuesday of the month, the club has organized a full lineup of activities for fall semester. Meet visiting college students from Southeast Asia at the LOCSEA (Leading and Organizing for Change in Southeast Asia) mixer from 6 to 7 p.m. Oct. 7 in Cole Hall lobby. LOCSEA is a new U.S. State Department program managed by CSEAS. The next week bring your marshmallows and a warm jacket for the SEA Club fall mixer and bonfire from 5 to 7 p.m. Oct. 13 at the East Lagoon. Southeast Asia-style ghosts, goblins and things that go bump in the night beckon Oct. 30 at the club’s Halloween party in Cole Hall lobby (time TBA). The club winds up the semester with a fun and festive Southeast Asia Culture Night from 6 to 8 p.m. Nov. 13 at Newman Catholic Student Center. All Southeast Asia Club activities are listed in Huskie Links or posted on Facebook (Southeast Asia Club at NIU). For info about the club, email niuseaclub@gmail.com or contact CSEAS Outreach Coordinator Julien Ehrenkönig at 815-753-1595.
4. Alumni Connect: Thinking global, working global NEW

What careers lie ahead for someone who’s studied Southeast Asia? Ask a CSEAS alum who’s made a career in the international arena. John Brandon got his master’s degree in political science concentrating on Thai studies in 1985 and is now director of international relations for the Asia Foundation. CSEAS will host a “fireside chat” with him from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 9 at Potterg House after he presents “Political Instability and the Role of the Military in Thailand: Historical Context, Current Events and Outlook” at the weekly CSEAS lecture series at noon in Room 100 Campus Life. Join us at our first Alumni Connect session for coffee, cookies and insightful conversation.

5. Be a LOCSEA host family for a day Oct. 18 NEW

CSEAS welcomes 21 Southeast Asian undergraduate students to NIU Sept. 30 for LOCSEA, a new five-week US State Department program on civic engagement that will focus on human rights and civil rights (http://www.cseas.niu.edu/cseas/currentinitiatives/LOCSEA/index.shtml). The program includes a “Host Day” on Sunday, Oct. 18, for participants to spend a day with an American household. Participants are primarily from Indonesia, Vietnam and the Philippines, with the rest from all other Association for Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) countries except Singapore. Most of the participants are between the ages of 21-24 with a couple who are 19. Families may host one or two students from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (the schedule may be adjusted earlier or later if more convenient). If interested, a one-page registration application form is posted on the LOCSEA website (link above). Please return by Oct. 9 to CSEAS (email to cseas@niu.edu, fax to CSEAS at 815-753-1776, or send by mail to Liz Denius, LOCSEA host family coordinator, CSEAS, 520 College View Court, DeKalb, IL 60115).

6. Caring for Cambodia: Changing lives through education NEW

Join CSEAS for a special presentation Oct. 14 by Jamie Amelio, founder of Caring for Cambodia, a nonprofit non-governmental organization that works with Cambodian communities to improve local education. The group helps train teachers, purchase classroom supplies, maintain and upgrade facilities, and provide bicycles, uniforms and basic health care to Cambodian youngsters. Amelio will speak about his organization’s work from 6 to 7 p.m. in Room 305 Holmes Student Center. For details, email cseas@niu.edu or call the center at 815-753-1771.

7. Cambodia field school dates set for summer 2016 NEW

CSEAS Director and anthropology professor Judy Ledgerwood has set the dates for her anthropology field school in Cambodia next summer. She will be leading “Buddhism and Service Learning” May 27–June 23 in Siem Reap, Cambodia, the site of Angkor Wat temple compound. Students will explore Cambodian Buddhism and cultural reconstruction in the post-Khmer Rouge era, learn ethnographic field methods, and be placed in a Buddhist or non-governmental organization group for the service component of the program. For more information about the program, contact Ledgerwood at 815-753-1771 or email her at jledgerw@niu.edu.
8. All the news that fits: Mandala 2015 posted online
The summer 2015 issue of the Center’s Mandala annual newsletter is now posted on the Center website. Read all about: CSEAS associate Jui-Ching Wang’s summer study abroad in Bali, POLS PhD students Thomas Rhoden and Aaron Johnson’s experiences as overseas fellows with the Boren and Fulbright programs, new acquisitions in the Donn V. Hart Southeast Asia Collection, and what CSEAS faculty and students have been up to in the past year.

9. Hmong American exhibit to open in November at Anthropology Museum
The NIU Anthropology Museum will open a major exhibit celebrating 40 years of Hmong American history in November. The exhibit will focus on the history of life in Laos continuing through the 1953–75 Laotian Civil War (known by Hmong veterans as the Secret War) and prominently feature the oral histories and material culture of Hmong Americans. The exhibit will also spotlight the museum’s permanent collection of Hmong textiles. The Laotian Hmong people are an ethnic minority who came from China and settled in the Laotian highlands as farmers. During the Vietnam conflict, many were trained by the US Central Intelligence Agency as guerrilla fighters against the communist Pathet Lao forces. At the end of the war, many Hmong fighters, fearing for their safety, fled the country, with thousands coming to the US as refugees. Many settled in the Midwest. The exhibit will run through March. Details on the opening to be announced.
