Burnish your resumé
Add a Southeast Asian Studies minor to a bachelor’s degree or a graduate certificate to an advanced degree and pull your resumé to the top of the pile. To learn more, visit the CSEAS website or stop by CSEAS at 520 College View Court. Undergraduates may make an appointment with Outreach Coordinator Julien Ehrenkönig at ehrenkonig@niu.edu; graduate students should contact Assistant Director Eric Jones at iloveroti@gmail.com.
1. Kenton Clymer book reception Friday NEW
Join CSEAS and the History Department in celebrating the publication of CSEAS associate Kenton Clymer’s new book published by Cornell University Press, A Delicate Relationship: The United States and Burma/Myanmar Since 1945, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 4, in the Thurgood Marshall Gallery in Swen Parson Hall, with Clymer’s book talk at 3 PM. In his book, Clymer examines the often fraught US-Burma relationship after the former British colony’s independence in 1948, US fears of Communist expansionism during the Cold War, Burma’s closure and isolation beginning in 1962, and the recent warming of relations beginning with President Obama’s historic visit in 2012. “A Delicate Relationship is an excellent book that will long remain the definitive account of US-Burmese relations during the post-World War II era,” writes Ohio State University historian Ralph D. Mershon in a review. “Clymer’s use of Burmese, British, and Australian sources, along with his extensive use of US archival and published accounts, gives his account real breadth and authority.”

2. Two FLAS opportunities, two deadlines, one application
Now is the time for all good SEAS students to consider applying for a Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) fellowship. Students planning to apply for both a summer 2016 and an academic-year 2016–17 FLAS fellowship can do so with one application. The application and all information on both summer and academic-year FLAS awards are posted on the Student Funding page at the CSEAS website. If you apply for a summer FLAS, indicate on the application that you want to apply for the academic-year FLAS as well; the application and accompanying materials will also be submitted to the academic-year round. Summer FLAS applications are due to the Center by Jan. 1. If you are just applying for the academic-year FLAS, the deadline is Feb. 1. FLAS fellowships are funded by the U.S. Department of Education’s Title VI Program of Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowships. Summer FLAS fellowships provide for the summer study of Southeast Asian languages at any U.S. Department of Education-approved educational institution, especially those in Southeast Asia but also including the Southeast Asian Studies Summer Institute at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Priority will be given to students planning to study in a Southeast Asian country. A list of currently approved programs is posted on the CSEAS website (more schools are currently being considered for approval). The application is posted on the Student Funding page of the CSEAS website. Applications are due to CSEAS Office Manager Rita Miller at ram@niu.edu by Jan. 1. Be sure to print out either the PDF form after filling out online or save it to your desktop. Then either send in the hard copy OR attach the saved PDF to an email to submit electronically. Any questions, call CSEAS at 815-753-1771 or email Office Manager Rita Miller at ram@niu.edu.

3. Applications for 2016–17 Neher Fellowship open to graduate students
U.S. and international graduate students are invited to apply for the Center’s 2016–17 Clark and Arlene Neher Graduate Fellowship for the Study of Southeast Asia. The fellowship includes a tuition waiver and a $4,000 annual stipend. To apply, students must be in good standing with NIU and demonstrate a commitment to a career involving Southeast Asian studies. Students should be at an advanced stage in their program, either master’s or doctoral, and be planning field or archival research in SEA studies. The application is posted on the Student Funding page of the Center website. Applications are due to CSEAS Office Manager Rita Miller at ram@niu.edu by Feb. 1.

4. Call for papers: NIU Southeast Asia Student Conference | NEW
The Southeast Asia Club invites papers for its 2016 spring Southeast Asia Student conference, which is set for Saturday, March 26, in Room 100 Campus Life. The conference theme is “From City to Village: Urbanization & Southeast Asia.” Papers may be submitted on related topics or any relevant to the region. Abstracts for all papers are due Feb. 25 (Jan. 31 for graduate and undergraduate students competing for best paper). The keynote speaker will be University of Leeds political scientist Duncan McCargo.

5. Notes from all over: In the media, in the field | NEW
Seen online and heard on the air lately: CSEAS associate Tharaphi Than (Foreign Languages and Literatures) quoted in the NIU Newsroom Nov. 11 about her life in Myanmar before pursuing higher education outside of the country and later coming to NIU; associate Kikue Hamayotsu (Political Science) speaking her mind Nov. 23 in the NIU Newsroom about why Muslim-European youth are recruited into radical Islam; associates Jim Wilson (Geography) and Tomoyuki Shibata (Public Health) quoted in an NIU Today story Nov. 24 about research projects they conducted in Myanmar last summer; and associate and Center for Burma Studies Director Catherine Raymond (School of Art) on the San Diego NPR station Nov. 28 talking about the culture of giving in Burma/Myanmar. . . .

While completing his research in Thailand during the 2015–16 academic year, Thomas Rhoden (PhD candidate, political science) is teaching a class entitled Business and Social Entrepreneurship at the Institute of South East Asian Affairs (ISEAA) at Chiang Mai University. He also has published a dataset from his research, “Dataset of Burmese Migration-Concept Crossover in Thailand,” Nov. 25 in ResearchGate. Rhoden will be back on campus in spring and at the lectern Friday, April 25, for the weekly lecture series. . . . Political science graduate students Iqra Anugrah (PhD candidate), Afrimadona (PhD candidate) and Azriansyah Agoes (MA candidate) have received $3,000 scholarships from the American-Indonesian Cultural and Educational Foundation. Congratulations!
6. Second Art History class added to spring SEAS courses
Center for Burma Studies Director Catherine Raymond (School of Art) has added another art history class for spring 2016: ARTH 294, Art History Survey: Arts of Asia, a chronological and thematic study of 6,000 years of art and architecture in the region, including Southeast Asia. Raymond will also be teaching ARTH 701, Material Culture, Sacred Architecture and World Heritage Sites in Southeast Asia (with an undergraduate section for SEA minors, SEAS 490). Other CSEAS associates are offering a wide range of spring classes. In anthropology, CSEAS Director Judy Ledgerwood is teaching ANTH 302/790, Asian American Cultures, and Andrea Molnar is offering ANTH 426/526, Political Anthropology. In history, Assistant Director Eric Jones is teaching SEAS 225, Crossroads of Southeast Asia and HIST 343/SEAS 690 (for graduate students), History of Southeast Asia Since Ca. 1800; and Stanley Arnold is teaching HIST 469/569, The Vietnam War. In political science, Kikue Hamayotsu is teaching POLS 376, Political Violence. Jui-Ching Wang (School of Music) and Ngurah Kertayuda will teach gamelan in MUSE 370/670. All second-semester classes in Burmese, Indonesian, Khmer, Tagalog, and Thai will be offered. For dates and times of all classes, see the full spring schedule on the Center website.

7. The match game: Apply for CSEAS match to Graduate School travel funding
CSEAS will match up to $250 in Graduate School travel grants for students traveling to out-of-town (or out-of-country) conferences to present. If you will be receiving Graduate School travel funding, contact CSEAS Office Manager Rita Miller about the CSEAS match. If you are considering applying (next 2015–16 deadlines are Jan. 15 and March 21), you must have completed one year of school with 3.5 GPA or above. See Graduate School website for details on its travel funding; submit applications to Dean, Graduate School, 223 Adams Hall.

8. Over the break, think about studying abroad in SEA
Winter break is a good time to seriously consider doing a summer study abroad in Southeast Asia—you know you want to. CSEAS Director and anthropology professor Judy Ledgerwood is leading a summer 2016 field school in Cambodia. The program, “Buddhism and Service Learning,” is set for May 27–June 23 in Siem Reap, Cambodia, the home of Angkor Wat. Students will explore Cambodian Buddhism and cultural reconstruction in the post-Khmer Rouge era, learn ethnographic field methods, and be placed with a Buddhist or non-governmental organization group for the service component of the program. The cost is $3,600. NIU undergraduate students may apply for partial funding through the Student Engagement Fund. For information, contact Ledgerwood by phone at 815-753-1771 or email her at jledgerw@niu.edu.

NIU also sponsors Summer Study Abroad in Laos (SAIL), a five-week Lao language and culture program, in cooperation with the San Francisco-based Center for Lao Studies. Dates are June 27–31. Application deadline is April 1. Information on all study abroad programs and opportunities for partial travel funding is available at the NIU Study Abroad Office, 417 Williston. Call 815-753-0700 or email niuabroad@niu.edu.

9. Save the dates: FLAS deadlines, spring events
- Jan. 1: Summer 2015 FLAS applications due to CSEAS
- Feb. 1: Applications for 2016–17 FLAS and Neher fellowships due to CSEAS
- Feb. 8: Southeast Asia Club Lunar New Year celebration, 6 to 8 p.m., Cole Hall.
- Feb. 25: Abstracts due for spring student conference
10. Advanced language programs offer fully funded chance to study abroad
Studying a Southeast Asian language in-country: Highly desirable.
Studying a Southeast Asian language fully funded: Priceless.

Interested in pursuing your language study abroad? Two programs offer fully funded opportunities to do just that.

- The David L. Boren fellowships and scholarships, an initiative of the national Security Education program, is open to U.S. undergraduate and graduate students to hone their language skills abroad. Grants range from $20,000 for undergraduates to $30,000 for graduate students. The deadline to apply for Boren fellowships for undergraduates is Jan. 28 for graduate students and Feb. 9 for undergraduates. The Boren advisor at NIU is Study Abroad Director Anne Seitzinger; contact her at aseitz@niu.edu. For more information, see the Boren website.
- The Blakemore Foundation makes grants for the advanced study of selected Southeast Asian languages—Burmese, Indonesian, Khmer, Thai, and Vietnamese—by scholars and mid-career professionals. Applications for the 2015 Blakemore Freeman fellowships and Blakemore refresher grants are now being accepted. The grants cover tuition and stipend, educational expenses, living costs and transportation. Candidates must be U.S. citizens with an undergraduate degree pursuing a career that involves the regular use of a Southeast Asian language. See the Blakemore Foundation website. Deadline to apply is Dec. 30.

11. Anthropology Museum gets ready for Hmong exhibit in January
The James B. & Rosalyn L. Pick Museum of Anthropology will open a major exhibit celebrating 40 years of Hmong American history in January. The exhibit will focus on the history of life in Laos continuing through the 1953–75 Laotian Civil War (known by Hmong veterans as the Secret War) and prominently feature the oral histories and material culture of Hmong Americans. The exhibit will also spotlight the museum’s permanent collection of Hmong textiles. Details on the opening to be announced.
