1. This week's lecture: Helping refugee undergrads NEW

Chu

Clara M. Chu, Mortenson Distinguished Professor and director of the Mortenson Center for International Library Programs at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, will present "Information Needs and Barriers of Southeast Asian Refugee Undergraduates" at noon March 24 in Campus Life 100. Through an online survey and virtual focus groups, Chu's research delves into the challenges faced by refugee students pursuing undergraduate degrees, and what libraries and communities can do to support them. To order an Indonesian lunch, request online by 6 p.m. Thursday at Lecture Lunch Order. Orders must be cancelled online by 10 a.m. Friday. Cost is $5 for students and $6 for faculty, staff and others. Payments may be made in cash or by check. For lunch details, e-mail cseasbrownbag@gmail.com.

2. Student news: Taking it on the road NEW

Graduate students: Doctoral candidates Carmin Berchiolly (Art History), Katrina Chludzinski (History) and Nicole Loring (Political Science) are headed to the United Kingdom May 26–28 for the Oxford-SOAS Graduate Student Workshop, "New Directions in Research on Myanmar," where all three will present on their doctoral research. Berchiolly's topic will be colonial photography in Burma and the reuse of these images from the late 1800s to the present to serve various foreign agendas.

Chludzinski will discuss a chapter in her dissertation concerning education and its influence on the construction of the Anglo-Burman identity. Loring also will present a chapter of her dissertation, which examines Myanmar's transition from authoritarian to civilian rule; her presentation will be on the failed transition between 1988 and 1990.

Undergraduate students: SEAYLP Scholar I Younan An has been named the NIU Honors Program's

Outstanding Junior for 2016–17. He will receive the award April 23 at the Honors Day reception in the Holmes

Student Center. I Younan, along with fellow political science student (and Southeast Asian Studies minor) Matt Peerboom, were delegates to Model Illinois Government 2017 March 2–5 in Springfield, Ill., where NIU received the award for Outstanding Small Delegation. I Younan was tapped to be the Vice Chair of the Education Committee and the Majority Party Whip for the Illinois House of Representatives and Peerboom served on two Republican committees. . . . Congratulations to undergraduate FLAS fellow Rachel Jacob (political science) and anthropology graduate student Claire Buchanan, who have both received competitive U.S. State Department's Critical Language Scholarship to advance their study of Indonesian this summer in Malang, East Java.

3. Catching up with CSEAS alumni NEW

Salazar

✧ Alexandra Salazar (MA anthropology, 2016) was invited to contribute two articles in the latest edition of Collaborative Anthropologies, which focuses on collaborations with historical societies, libraries and museums. Salazar's articles are "Trauma, Memory and Representation: The Role of Collaboration in the Development of the Museum Exhibit 'Remembering the Killing Fields,' based on part of her MA thesis on the National Cambodian Heritage Museum in Chicago, and "Diversifying a City's History: An Interview with Julie Bartolotto, Executive Director of the Historical Society of Long Beach, California."

✧ Krista Albers (MA history, 2015) presented "'Precedent Has Been Established': Kennedy's Defoliation Policy in Vietnam" March 4 at the 60th annual Missouri Valley History Conference in Omaha, Neb. Albers is the donor relations coordinator at the NIU Foundation.

✧ Michael Hawkins (PhD history, 2009), associate professor in the Department of History at Creighton University, has been appointed associate chair of the department. Hawkins, the author of Making Moros: Imperial Historicism and American Military Rule in the Philippine Muslim South (NIU Press, 2013), studies empire, Islam and agency in Asia.

✧ Francesca Pase (MSEd educational psychology, 2016) will present "Englishization of Emotion: Fixed Experiences," a discussion about language acquisition in Indonesia, at the May 17–20 International Congress of Qualitative Inquiry at the University of Illinois. Pase is working on her doctorate at the University of Georgia's Department of Educational Theory and Practice.

✧ Lyndy Worsham (MA political science, 2005) is working on the next decennial census for the U.S. Census Bureau in Washington, DC. Worsham returned to the U.S. in 2015 after working as a research and Geographic Information Systems specialist at the Thailand Burma Border Consortium (see feature in the 2011 Mandala.).

✧ Kelly O'Shea (BA anthropology, SEAS minor, 2010) went on to receive a master's in public health from UIC and is working as a research study coordinator in perinatal women's mental health at Northwestern in Chicago.

✧ In the Perks of Studying Southeast Asia Department, E. Peter Colina (MBA, 2013) and Mirah Kertayuda (MA political science, 2016) have announced they will be getting married in August in Evanston, Ill. Kertayuda is a case worker for the State of Illinois and Colina works as an export coordinator. In their off hours, Kertayuda, whose father is NIU's gamelan instructor Ngurah Kertayuda, and Colina also perform with Ngurah's Chicago-based group, Indonesian Dance of Illinois.

4. CSEAS to offer summer class on Chinese foreign policy

CSEAS will welcome Dr. Biwu Zhang, director of the Institute of Asia-Pacific International Relations at Xiamen University in Xiamen, China, as guest lecturer this summer to teach SEAS 490/690, China's Foreign Policy: Past and Present. The class, which is cross-listed with POLS 395 and HIST 391/598, will be offered May 22–June 16. Zhang received his doctorate from Ohio State University and is the author of the book, Chinese Perceptions of the U.S.: An Exploration of China's Foreign Policy Motivations (Lexington Books, 2011).

5. Emory political scientist to keynote spring student conference

Doner

Mark your calendar for the Southeast Asia Club's spring student conference, which will be held Saturday, April 1, in Campus Life 100. The keynote speaker will be Emory University political scientist Richard Doner, a specialist in the political economy of economic development in Southeast Asia. Conference opens at 8 a.m. with registration and light breakfast. Morning presentations to start at 9 a.m. Lunch break before afternoon presentations. $100 cash awards will be awarded for best undergraduate and graduate papers.

6. Tune in to our latest podcast on Cambodia with historian Matt Jagel

A conversation with historian and NIU alumnus Matt Jagel, "A Cambodian Nationalist, the US and the Transformation of Cambodia," is the newest installment in our Southeast Asia Crossroads podcast series. Other podcasts feature conversations with University of Leeds political scientist Duncan McCargo, NIU art historian Catherine Raymond (with graduate assistant Carmin Berchiolly), Kent State University historian Shane Strate, historian Philippe Peycam, director of the International Institute of Asian Studies in Leiden, Vietnamese-American poet and Grinnell University professor Hai Dang Phan, St. Mary's College global studies professor Laura Elder, Miami University political scientist Tani Sebros, Burma historian Maitrii Aung-Thwin and ethnomusicologists Naomi Gingold, Heather MacLachlan and Gavin Douglas. And our listenership keeps growing. Since the series' inception in September 2016, Crossroads podcasts have been downloaded more than 1,000 times with listeners in 34 countries.

7. A world full of family: Be a host for SEA youth exchange programs

CSEAS and NIU's International Training Office (ITO) are actively seeking area home-stay hosts for two spring Southeast Asia youth exchange programs sponsored by the U.S. State Department at NIU for more than a decade.

CSEAS is looking for 30 households to host 50 high school students and ten adult leaders from nine Southeast Asian countries participating in the Southeast Asia Youth Leadership Program (SEAYLP). Home-stay dates are April 8–16. Students may be placed in pairs and adults as singles. Hosts provide a bed for each participant, breakfast each day and most dinners, all meals during any weekend days at home, and transportation to and from class sessions at NIU. Host-stay family orientation is scheduled for 6:30 to 8 p.m. Monday, April 3, on campus. Host family applications may be submitted online (where you will also find more details about hosting). Contact SEAYLP Administrative Director Maria Nihei at mhancock3@niu.edu. Read what local families have to say about being a home-stay host in NIU Today.

ITO is also seeking host families in April for the Philippine Youth Leadership Program (PYLP), which brings young people and adult leaders from the Autonomous Region of Muslim Mindanao and surrounding provinces in the Philippines to NIU for four weeks under the auspices of ITO. The Top 10 reasons to be a host family

10. You can experience a different country without getting on an airplane
9. It beats watching "Survivor" reruns
8. You'll be able to pick out Southeast Asia on a map
7. Your kids may start answering you in Burmese, Indonesian, Khmer, Lao, Malay, Thai, Tagalog or Vietnamese
6. You'll become an expert at making rice
5. It's something different to write about on Facebook
4. You'll be the envy of family and friends
3. It's a good excuse for spring cleaning
2. Your family portrait could replace the flying corn cob as the international symbol of DeKalb County
1. Your family will make friendships of a lifetime

home stay dates for PYLP are April 17–29. Contact ITO home-stay coordinator Leslie Shive at lshive@niu.edu.

8. Still time to apply for Indonesia summer study abroad

Hamayotsu

Interested in gaining firsthand field and living experience next summer in Indonesia, the largest Muslim-majority democracy in the world? CSEAS associate Kikue Hamayotsu (Political Science) is leading Democracy and Cultural Diversity in Indonesia May 21–June 4 in Yogyakarta, Central Java. Participants will live at Gadjah Mada University and participate in daily activities and field trips. Students can earn up to six hours of graduate or undergraduate credit (undergraduate credit can be applied to CSEAS's minor in Southeast Asian studies). The cost is $3,250 (not including airfare). NIU offers limited funding opportunities, including the Provost Travel Grant (contact the NIU Study Abroad office) and other options, such as the Student Engagement Fund, listed in Money for Study below. For details, contact Hamayotsu at khamayotsu@niu.edu or NIU Study Abroad at 815-753-0700.

NIU Study Abroad also offers the opportunity to study Laotian history, language and culture through the five-week SAIL program offered by the San Francisco-based Center for Lao Studies in San Francisco. The program will be held June 27–July 31 in Vientiane, Laos, based at the Lao-American College. Participants can earn up to 10 hours of undergraduate credit. Cost is $2,960 ($3,785 with college credit). Deadline to apply: April 3.

9. Save the dates: New exhibit, conference, SEAYLP

- Through April: Cast Out to See: The Journey of a Prehistoric Ornament Across Southeast Asia exhibit, on display at the Donn V. Hart Southeast Asia Collection, fourth floor, Founders Memorial Library.
- April 1: SEA Club spring student conference, Campus Life 100.
- April 5–28: Southeast Asia Youth Leadership Program (SEAYLP) at NIU.

10. The match game: Apply for CSEAS match to Graduate School travel funding

CSEAS will match up to $250 in Graduate School travel grants for students traveling to out-of-town (or out-of-country) conferences during 2016–17 to present. If you will be receiving Graduate School travel funding, contact CSEAS Office Manager Lisa Heal (lheal@niu.edu) about the CSEAS match. If you are considering applying (deadline to apply: March 20), you must have completed one year of school with 3.5 GPA or above. See Graduate School website for details on its travel funding; submit applications to Dean, Graduate School, 223 Adams Hall.

11. Burnish your resumé with Southeast Asian Studies

Add a Southeast Asian Studies minor to a bachelor's degree or a graduate certificate to an advanced degree and pull your resumé to the top of the pile.
