

Daily Chronicle ONLINE

Your Towns | Your Neighbors | Your Newspaper

Updated: Nov 08, 2005 - 11:17:45 am CST

Wright students celebrate Red Ribbon week

MALTA - The students at Paul T. Wright Elementary had quite a treat on Friday.

Students have been celebrating Red Ribbon week by theme dressing all week.

For example, on Tuesday, students wore pajamas and slippers to remind students to give drugs the "slip."

The week of festivities culminated with an assembly on Friday.

Victor E. Huskie was out to remind students to make healthy choices and pass out water bottles and T-shirts.

Sgt. Gary Dumbie from the DeKalb Sheriff's Department brought out the drug sniffing dogs and shared how the dogs help the police department.

The students really enjoyed watching the dogs in some training exercises.

As the grand finale, teachers performed skits to remind students of Wright expectations and how to treat each other appropriately at school.

Copyright © 2007, Daily Chronicle. All rights reserved.