2016 Teaching Assistant Orientation

Research Right! A Library Refresher
Leanne VandeCreek and Larissa Garcia

Session Summary
The University Libraries contain over 2 million print volumes, 200+ research databases, and access to more than 40,000 electronic journals. Perhaps the greatest resources for graduate Teaching Assistants are the Librarian Subject Specialists and reference services.

Key Concepts
- The 314,000 sq. ft. Founders Library has over 2 million print volumes, 200+ research databases, and access to more than 40,000 electronic journals.
- You can borrow materials that the NIU library does not own from other institutions through interlibrary loan, including books and articles.
- Subject Specialists have advanced degrees that include specialized subject areas. They can collaborate with you on assignments and student support.
- The University Libraries have reference services, resources, and great places to learn for a diverse population of students. Research, study, and learn in a variety of settings.
- Library can provide instruction on using library resources for your students, either in the library or by visiting your classroom.

Next Steps
- Bookmark the NIU Library Tutorials page at: go.niu.edu/ulib
- Contact your Subject Specialist to arrange for library instruction for your students
