Abstract

AbbVie focuses on developing new drug products that deliver a remarkable impact on patients. In the department of Data and Statistical Sciences, we are striving to create the database, statistical design, analysis methodology for clinical and nonclinical studies in an innovative manner. In this talk, I will give a brief introduction to AbbVie and our Department, an overview of drug development process, and a few examples where we apply novel statistical methods to solve a variety of problems.