Profile: About Swift Transportation. Swift Transportation began operations in 1966 transporting imported steel through the ports of Los Angeles to Arizona and Arizona cotton for export back through to Southern California. Jerry Moyes, the founder, began with the same entrepreneurial, can-do spirit that is one of Swift's core values today. The original operation was conducted under the name of Common Market. Operating authority was purchased from a descendant of the Swift Meat Packing family, hence, today's name of Swift Transportation. Jerry, with his father, brother and a partner, grew the business, with typical start-up challenges, to a $25 million annual revenue in 1984. With the passing of Jerry's father, Carl Moyes, Jerry became the sole owner. By 1990, Swift had grown to a $125 million carrier with 800 trucks. Swift's significant revenue growth is attributable to internal growth with existing customers as well as acquisitions. Since 1988, Swift has acquired 13 different motor carriers.

By examining the industry and seeing what was and wasn't working, we gained the insight to create a place with an innovative and personal perspective. Swoon is a career hub that's unlike any other. A place where the focus is on the people first, and the placement second. For us, we'd rather have a single candidate find a job they love, rather than a dozen people simply find a desk to sit at from 9 to 5. We believe our value will come to light in the long run. Contrary to popular practice, we are in no rush to find jobs. We put in the legwork to make sure that our matches fit like a glove. Because when you find a job that is right for you, it means we are doing our job.
