Transfer Guide Leading to a Bachelor’s Degree in

Nonprofit and NGO Studies

All degree requirements are subject to the provisions and notices in the NIU Undergraduate Catalog. The following information is valid through the 2018-2019 academic year.

About the Program
The Center for Nonprofit and NGO Studies at NIU provides undergraduate students with the opportunity to earn a B.A. or a B.S. degree, a minor, or a certificate in Nonprofit and NGO Studies. This is a program created for students who want to make a difference in the world by working for nonprofit organizations or in the fields of philanthropy, public service, or community engagement, but want a paying career as well. Students can choose from three program options:

- NNGO Major -- 18 credit hours in core courses plus 18 hours of interdisciplinary requirements toward a B.A. or B.S. degree.
- NNGO Minor -- 18 credit hours as an addition to any major
- Undergraduate Certificate -- 12 credit hours as an addition to any major

Faculty
The Center for Nonprofit and NGO Studies is fortunate to offer exciting, hands-on classes taught by world-class professors who truly care about connecting your talents with course material. In keeping with the interdisciplinary nature of the program, most faculty have joint appointments with other academic disciplines. All of our permanent faculty have earned doctorates, and our instructors all have master’s degrees.

Engaged Learning Opportunities
The Center for Nonprofit and NGO Studies takes care to blend the hands-on “how-to” with the “why” – it is important for our students to understand the theory and research behind the actions we take. Our students collaborate with others from class to work in a professional capacity with nonprofit organizations in the community. These projects can be added to your resume as part of your professional work experience. Examples of previous engagement projects include:

- Helping develop a Tenant’s Union at a local housing project
- Designing promotional strategy for a county-wide 2*1*1 project
- Organizing fundraising events for an after-school tutoring program
- Working with a nonprofit Board of Directors to give a student point-of-view

We offer exciting opportunities that tie the classroom to the real world, including study abroad programs, internships, and independent study projects. Additionally, students have the opportunity to participate in undergraduate research programs which help contribute to the nonprofit field of study.

Career Information
The nonprofit sector is one of the fastest growing job sectors in the United States and offers a wide variety of career opportunities with a wide variety of salary levels. Coursework in Nonprofit and NGO
Studies prepares students to work in the nonprofit field, or in the public or private sectors in jobs connected to the nonprofit arena. While many jobs in the nonprofit sector are identical to those in other sectors (accounting, marketing) others are unique to the sector such as grant writing or donor development.

Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science?

Students who decide to major in Nonprofit and NGO Studies will need to decide if they want to pursue a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree. Students who have previously studied a foreign language or have an interest in serving a foreign language population might pursue a B.A. degree, while students who have strengths in math or computer science usually pursue a B.S. degree.
