New Course Offering
CEDU22.23.07.02
2022-23 Undergrad Catalog

CIP Code: 31.0508
Course Component: Practicum

KNPE 436 – Advanced Experience in Physical Activity, Life Skills, and Sport. Enhancement of students’ practical experiences in the area of physical activity, life skills, and sport. Via a series of guest lecturers, individual and group assignments, and practical experiences, students will hone organizational, planning, managing, and leadership skills. May be repeated to a maximum of 9 semester hours. PRQ: Consent of department.

Semester Hours: 1-3

Rationale: With a growing numbers of sport organizations embracing the concept of using sport to facilitate physical activity and life skills, there is increasing demand for professionals within this industry. As a result, professional opportunities are becoming more prevalent in areas such as community relations, community outreach, DEI oversight, and engagement. This transdisciplinary course will introduce students to some of these opportunities and potentially give them a competitive advantage when entering the job market. Opportunities to work closely with entities such as NIU PALS, NIU STEAM, and other stakeholder groups will be offered.

Repeatability: A recently approved experiential learning class (LESM 385 - Field Experience in SM) has a similar premise to KNPE 436, that students are able to repeat up to a maximum of 9 semester hours, establishing precedent for repeatability to not just apply to Special Topic courses. This will be an immersive, authentic, and applied experience for students involved in a number of our outreach programs such as PALS and FLEX.

Non-Duplication: Since this is a department-specific course, no duplication exists.

Finally, this course will be added as an elective into the recently developed minor in Sport for Development and Social Change and aligns well with the recently established presidential goal of transdisciplinary work in this area.

- KNPE 436 - Advanced Experience in Physical Activity, Life Skills, and Sport Credits: 1-3

Students must complete 3 credit hours of KNPE 436

Rationale: Adding an applied experience option will provide a potential value add for student pursuing this minor. Additionally, this experience will afford students the opportunity to participate in some of KNPE / NIU outreach and community programs such as PALS, Project FLEX, NIU STEAM, etc., thus making them more marketable as they pursue professional or post-baccalaureate opportunities.

Rationale: The list of course options in Group B is very slim. The CLAS advising staff believes that this course (which covers “the computation of economic equilibria,” among other subjects) fits well within this category and recommends the addition. Updating the GEOG/GEOL to EAE course designators and numbers to coordinate with department merger. Update the title of EAE 120 and EAE 121. Impact Statement: The Department of Economics was consulted regarding the addition of ECON 391 to the Group B options for the B.S. requirement. The department did not identify any negative impact on course availability, enrollment, or teaching loads with this change. They support the addition.

GEOL EAE 200 - Geoscience Career Preparation

Prerequisites & Notes
PRQ: Declared major in geology and environmental geosciences EAE.

Credits: 1 2

Rationale: Revised course designator to coordinate with department merger. The increase from 1 to 2 credit hours is to provide additional course time to bring in speakers (e.g., EAE faculty, alumni, and local employers) to discuss specific career paths and job opportunities. This is already done to some degree, but the 1 hr/week meeting time limits the amount of time and content that can be discussed. GEOL 200 and GEOG 300 have been combined into the new EAE 200; GEOG 300 has been deleted. Repeat Statement: The revised course (EAE 200) will replace the previous course (GEOL 200) for repeat benefits. The revised EAE 200 will also replace GEOG 300 for repeat benefits. GEOG 300 has been deleted.

GEOL EAE 401 - Third Clinical High School/Middle School Experience in Earth and Space Science

Prerequisites & Notes
CRQ: GEOL EAE 416X.

Credits: 2

Rationale: Revised course designator to coordinate with department merger. Title revised to reflect current course content. Update PRQ to reflect new designator. Historically, our program was for grades 6-12, which is why both High and Middle school were listed in the 401 course description. Around 6 years ago, the state split middle school licensure (grades 5-8) and secondary licensure (grades 9-12) into two separate endorsements. When the state did this, our students no longer needed a clinical experience in a middle school. Currently, if a student wants to teach middle school exclusively, they major in “Middle Level Teaching and Learning (MLTL)” in the College of Education. The “secondary and middle level” language is required for our EAE 414 class because both secondary (CLAS) and middle level (CoE) students take the course. It is not needed in EAE 401. Repeat Statement: The revised course (EAE 401) will replace the previous course (GEOL 401) for repeat benefits.

Additional Requirements

Rationale: ETT 402 has not met enrollment targets at times and therefore has been cancelled some semesters. Based on exit surveys from the last four years, our students have been overall dissatisfied with the quality and amount of material presented in ETT 402 and have not found it directly applicable to their teaching practice. The professor who teaches EPS 452, Classroom Management for Adolescent Students, is a former high school chemistry teacher and has committed to teaching CLAS dedicated sections for our students in the spring. He receives outstanding evaluations from licensure students who take the class. EPS 452 course is also required by other CLAS secondary licensure programs, which eliminates the possibility of the course not meeting enrollment minimums.

Paperwork was submitted for state approval in summer 2021 by secondary science educator licensure Program Director, Paul Fix. It was formally approved by the Illinois State Board of Education in fall 2021.

Impact Statement: LEPF was consulted with regard to the addition of their course to the list of requirements. The department has not identified any negative impact on course availability, enrollment, or teaching loads with this change. They are supportive of this addition.

Geology and Environmental Geosciences  Earth, Atmosphere and Environment  (B.S.)

Students planning careers as professional geologists normally complete the emphasis in geology. The emphasis in environmental geosciences is designed for students seeking a broad scientific base for pursuit of careers in professions that may utilize environmental knowledge, such as land-use planning, law, political science or economics and therefore includes several courses in or related to a cross-disciplinary department of the student’s choice. These courses may provide the basis for the completion of a minor in that department. The major in earth, atmosphere, and environment offers the opportunity to develop a greater understanding of specific aspects of earth science, geology, geography, and atmospheric sciences by choosing electives for multiple and wide-ranging areas of study. The department also offers a certificate in geographic information science (GIS). With the proper selection of electives, the student can meet federal civil service qualification standards as a soil scientist, hydrogeologist, or hydrologist. Students planning to pursue initial educator licensure to teach in grades 9-12 will usually select the emphasis in earth science education, but completion of the emphasis does not fulfill all the requirements for initial educator licensure.

The student learning outcomes for this degree are located at http://www.niu.edu/assessment/clearinghouse/outcomes/index.shtml.

Senior Thesis Requirements

Seniors having a cumulative GPA of 2.75 and having completed at least 26 semester hours in geology and environmental geosciences earth, atmosphere and environment are eligible to undertake a senior thesis. It is the student’s responsibility to find a faculty member willing to serve as project adviser. The Department of Geology and Environmental Geosciences cannot guarantee any student an adviser. A course permit number will not be issued until a project adviser approval form has been filed with the undergraduate adviser. A second committee member will be appointed by the departmental undergraduate committee. The thesis shall be a written report prepared with an approved advisor, in accordance with accepted guidelines for published scientific literature and reflecting a research effort commensurate with the Rationale: Update program requirements to coordinate with GEOG/GEOL department merger. Faculty and staff of both existing areas have been engaged in discussions for more than two years regarding how to combine their strengths, better serve the students of NIU, and to expand and enhance the scope and impact of their research, engagement, and outreach. This innovative plan will expand research collaborations and success, attract new, high-quality undergraduate students to NIU, and support the function and enhance the impact of the Northern Illinois Center for Community Sustainability. The revisions to this program will make it adaptable to changing student demographics and demand for decades to come. Emphasis 3: Earth and Space Science Rationale -- Our goal was to align the semester hour requirements so that all the (6) new EAE emphases would be comparable. Even though EAE Emphasis 3 is very similar to the previous GEOL Emphasis

SECTION A – For inclusion in the 2023-24 Undergraduate Catalog

The merger forced us to reevaluate our required courses, particularly in the allied sciences and outside-the-department requirements. The faculty agreed that requiring these courses presents a hurdle for students who wish to switch emphases within the EAE major.

Impact Statement: All outside departments were consulted with regard to the addition of their course to the EAE program. None of the departments identified any negative impact on course availability, enrollment, or teaching loads with this change. They are supportive of these additions.

Track 2. English Studies Leading to for Secondary Licensure in English Language Arts

English Studies leading to for Secondary Licensure in English Language Arts prepares students to teach grades 9-12. Students interested in teaching English Language Arts in grades 5-8 should consult an advisor in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction. Students from other subject areas may choose to fulfill the requirements for educator licensure in English Language Arts as an additional endorsement.

Candidates for Secondary Licensure in English Language Arts (grades 9-12) must complete a minimum of 40 hours in English, pass all tests required by the State of Illinois, and complete a clinical sequence and student teaching. Candidates must also complete required professional course work in reading instruction, human growth and development, teaching of English language learners, classroom management for adolescents, and teaching of exceptional learners.

Additional Requirements

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) Secondary English Education Licensure Program requires a minimum of 100 clock hours of substantial, varied, and sequential clinical experiences prior to student teaching. These clinical hours will be completed across three semesters. This requirement may be satisfied by successfully completing the following courses.

- ILAS 201 - Introductory Clinical Experience Credits: 1
  (must be taken concurrently with ENGL 404)

- ENGL 482 - Clinical Experience in English Language Arts Credits: 1-2
  (must be taken concurrently with ENGL 480.)
  Students must take 1 credit hour in this course

Also Required

The ISBE and requirements for educator licensure in English Language Arts at NIU also specify that candidates in Track 2 must earn a grade of C or better for each course included in required professional course work in reading instruction, human growth and development, teaching of English language learners, classroom management for adolescents, and teaching of exceptional learners. Candidates should consult with the coordinator in English licensure to determine which courses satisfy these additional requirements outside the department.

Requirements for Educator Licensure in English Language Arts as an Additional Endorsement (24 18)

The ISBE specifies that candidates earn a grade of C or better in each course required for educator licensure and pass the Illinois examination for licensure in English Language Arts content. Candidates outside of the English licensure program may want to pursue a secondary English Language Arts endorsement. A grade of C or better must be earned in each course required for the endorsement, and candidates must pass the content area exam for Secondary English Language Arts. While the State requires a minimum of 18 hours of content-specific course work, the Secondary English Education Licensure Program strongly recommends that students pursuing this endorsement follow the program of study below to be prepared for the State’s content area exam and to have the substantial content knowledge necessary for the teaching of English language arts.

This additional endorsement will also satisfy the requirement for an English minor. The candidate must apply to the coordinator of teacher licensure in English to declare the English minor. It is strongly recommended that students pursuing this endorsement follow this program of study.

- ENGL 200 - Literary Study: Research and Criticism Credits: 3
- ENGL 479 - Theory and Research in Literature for English Language Arts Credits: 3
- ENGL 479 is a writing infused course.

This additional endorsement will also satisfy the requirement for an English minor. The candidate must apply to the coordinator of teacher licensure in English to declare the English minor.

Total Hours for a Major in English, Track 2: 40-52 (B.A.); 52-57 (B.S.)

Rationale: Deletion of the parent course for ENGL 434X, WGSS 434. Changes in the English track 2 catalog language reflect updates to program curriculum and an investment in transparency about program requirements and state requirements. In particular, we name the content that students will take in course work from the College of Education. Additionally, we more accurately reflect state requirements for "endorsements” and our program’s recommendations for best acquiring content-area knowledge.

- ETT 402 - Teaching and Learning with Technology Credits: 3
- ILAS 201 - Introductory Clinical Experience Credits: 1
- SESE 457 - Methods for Including Middle and Secondary Students with Exceptionalities in the General Education Classroom Credits: 3

Rationale: Revised titles for NNGO 100 and WGSS 201. ETT 402 has not met enrollment targets at times and therefore has been cancelled some semesters. Based on exit surveys from the last four years, our students have been overall dissatisfied with the quality and amount of material presented in ETT 402 and have not found it directly applicable to their teaching practice. The professor who teaches EPS 452, Classroom Management for Adolescent Students, is a former high school chemistry teacher and has committed to teaching CLAS dedicated sections for our students in the spring. He receives outstanding evaluations from licensure students who take the class. EPS 452 course is also required by other CLAS secondary licensure programs, which eliminates the possibility of the course not meeting enrollment minimums.

Paperwork was submitted for state approval in summer 2021 by secondary science educator licensure Program Director, Paul Fix. It was formally approved by the Illinois State Board of Education in fall 2021.

Impact Statement: LEPF was consulted with regard to the addition of their course to the list of requirements. The department has not identified any negative impact on course availability, enrollment, or teaching loads with this change. They are supportive of this addition.

NNGO 201 - Nonprofit and NGO Career Exploration

Preparing for early career activity to identify career paths and the development of skills, such as resume creation, interviewing techniques, and adopting professional ethics frameworks. Providing coaching, networking, and mentoring opportunities.
S/U Grading.

Prerequisites & Notes
PRQ: NNGO major or minor.

Credits: 1

Rationale: We know our students need additional support to think through career options, and then prepare for life after graduation. In the past, some of this preparation had been part of the capstone but that is too late (last semester) and there are significant learning objectives already part of the capstone course. Because NNGO is an interdisciplinary degree, with many options depending on the student’s interest, we think it is even more critical for students to be supported in their transition from student to workforce or graduate school. This course would be added to the list of electives for the NNGO major and minor. Ideally, the student would take this course as a sophomore or junior. Non-Duplication: None. This course is specific to NNGO majors and minors.

Credits: 3

Rationale: An ambiguity was brought to our attention by the CLAS advising office regarding the PRQs, suggesting that a C or better in both STAT and PSYC 305 was required for entry into this course. This change specifies that a C or better is required in STAT but not in PSYC 305, which is consistent with our longstanding curriculum. Rationale: Even though this change appears to add a pre-requisite, the goal is to provide clarity and transparency about an existing course pre-requisite. Currently, a grade of C or better in STAT is a pre-requisite for PSYC 306 (which is an existing pre-requisite for this course). Rationale: Even though this change appears to add a pre-requisite, the goal is to provide clarity and transparency about an existing course prerequisite. Currently, a grade of C or better in STAT is a prerequisite for PSYC 306 (which is an existing prerequisite for this course). In the event that a student does not take PSYC 306 at NIU, (e.g., a transfer student who transfers in credit for the course), this change ensures that a student still needs to have earned a grade of C or better in STAT to be prepared for this course.

Approval: The revision and checklist items have been reviewed and approved by the CLAS Curricular Dean on October 31, 2022.

Geology Earth, Atmosphere and Environmental Geosciences Degree with Honors

Students who want to work toward a B.S. degree with honors should discuss the matter with the faculty adviser and the chair of the department’s Undergraduate Committee as soon as possible. Admission to the degree with honors program requires the approval of the department chair and will be considered only for juniors or seniors having a minimum GPA of 3.00 in all work and of 3.40 in geology and environmental geosciences courses.

A B.S. degree with honors in geology and environmental geosciences will be awarded to the candidate who maintains a GPA of 3.40 in department courses, fulfills the normal requirements for the major, and completes a departmental honors thesis under GEOL 499. The senior departmental honors thesis must be approved by the project adviser and a staff member appointed by the departmental undergraduate committee.

The University Honors Program is separate but complementary to the departmental degree with honors. Eligible students may participate in one or both programs simultaneously since there is some overlap in the requirements. Students interested in the University Honors Program are encouraged to contact the University Honors office for more detailed information.
The B.S. degree with Honors in Earth, Atmosphere and Environment will be awarded to students satisfying the following requirements:

- Approval of the departmental advisor for admission to the honors degree program.
- Senior standing with a minimum GPA of 3.00 in all course work and of 3.50 in EAE courses.
- Completion of the requirements of the declared departmental major.
- Completion of a senior honors thesis under EAE 499 for a minimum of 2 semester hours. The honors thesis must be approved by the project faculty mentor and the departmental advisor.

The University Honors Program is separate but complementary to the departmental degree with honors. Eligible students may participate in one or both programs simultaneously since there is some overlap in the requirements. Students interested in the University Honors Program are encouraged to contact the University Honors office for more detailed information.

Rationale: The merger of the GEOL and GEOG honors programs is intended to streamline the catalog language for students seeking departmental (EAE) honors across the program. We have kept a parallel set of requirements for students seeking honors in the meteorology degree path.

ENVS 200 - Introduction to Sustainability

Sustainability from complex systems and transdisciplinary perspectives. Social equity, environmental conservation, and economic growth. Organizations, institutions, and power in sustainability. Data literacy and science communication in sustainability. Introduction to transdisciplinary research.

Credits: 3

Rationale: The Institute for the Study of ESE identified a critical need among ENVS major students for a course that would develop key competencies and literacies essential for our core courses. The current (2022-2023) general education courses do not include any offerings on sustainable systems that emphasize the areas in the course description above, even though these are essential to many fields of graduate study and career pathways students may pursue. Non-Duplication: The Departments of ANTH, BIOS, EAE, POLS, and TECH were consulted with regard to this course and have indicated there is no significant duplication with any of their current course offerings.

ENVS 242 - Polluted Places: The Science and History of the World’s Most Toxic Locations

Explore the horrendously polluted Yamuna River in India, severe mercury poisoning in Minamata Japan, and the Exclusion Zone around the Chernobyl sarcophagus. In the USA, investigate lead in Tar Creek Oklahoma, plutonium at the Hanford site, slow-burn coal seams in abandoned Centralia, PA and more while surveying Superfund sites in your own backyard. Emphasis will be on impact to local, low-income communities around these polluted places with potential solutions or exclusion zones. Includes one Saturday field trip.

 Credits: 3

Rationale: In classes such as ENVS 301 (Environmental Science) and ENVS 409 (Water Quality) we touch on some of these toxic sites but we don't get time to explore in depth. This course will tell the stories behind these locations. It also fits into environmental justice issues since many polluted places are in low income areas around the world. Currently there is not any courses at NIU that explore these toxic places. Non-Duplication: The Departments of EAE and HIST were consulted with regard to this course and have indicated there is no significant duplication with any of their current course offerings.

ENVS 385X - Global Environmental Problems

Crosslisted as POLS 385. Analysis of the international relations of global environmental problems with particular emphasis on cooperation and interstate negotiations.

 Credits: 3

Rationale: Global environmental problems—climate change, biodiversity loss, depletion of freshwater resources, the hole in the ozone layer, the international transport of hazardous waste, and many more—have become increasingly pressing political concerns around the world. Our students are aware and concerned about these issues and have professional and personal interests in helping to find solution. This course will provide a background in the global nature of these political challenges and their proposed governance. Non-Duplication: None - this is a crosslisted course. Non-Duplications were completed for the parent course, POLS 385.

In this emphasis, students will study environmental issues through time and from diverse perspectives, preparing them to better understand and critically assess contemporary environmental challenges. The emphasis gives students broad exposure to how the environment is represented and researched in the social sciences and humanities. Throughout the emphasis, students will critically examine the notion of sustainability as a potential principle underlying and guiding human interaction with the environment. Students will investigate local and global manifestations of environmental problems and explore how rural/urban linkages influence sustainability. Humans do not experience environmental benefits and risks uniformly. Climate change, pollution, habitat loss, and other environmental challenges impact some social groups more gravely than others. This emphasis helps students explore the causes and consequences of environmental inequities in the U.S. and around the world, as well as efforts to establish environmental justice, the sharing of environmental costs and benefits more equitably. Through courses in the emphasis, students will learn methods of historical and cross-cultural comparison to critically assess environmental challenges; examine multiple lines of environmental injustice, such as race, gender, and economic status; and compare and contrast interventions rooted in social movements, conflict mediation, governmental and non-governmental efforts. To prepare students for careers advocating for environmental justice, the emphasis includes a strong focus on environmental communication.

Emphasis 4. Environmental Policy and Law (30-31)
This emphasis is designed to give students an understanding of how American law and policy have responded to contemporary environmental problems and how policies can bring about sustainable solutions. This includes how environmental law operates and the goals of specific laws, equipping students to evaluate and better understand environmental legal issues they might encounter in their subsequent studies and professional lives. Focus on how social structures impact environmental issues, how and why governments respond, the structure of environmental laws, and how policy change can be achieved. Students are exposed to: a broad range of perspectives from political science to economics, anthropology and the law; the role of grassroots, regional, and national nonprofit organizations to advocate for policy change; and examine environmental issues at the individual, local, national, and global levels. The resulting understanding of how complex natural and social systems interact as well as how to assess and advocate for solutions prepares students for long-term career success in a variety of environment and policy-oriented fields.

Emphasis 5: Water Sciences (38-42)
Whether it is for agriculture, industry, or personal consumption, current use of fresh water by humans is unsustainable. In many parts of the world, access to clean, safe drinking water is lacking. With the human population predicted to expand for the next 40-50 years demand for water will increase dramatically in the coming decades. It is essential that students pursuing environmental studies are well grounded in the economic, legal, physical, and biological facets of water resources. This emphasis is offered for the B.S. only.

Total Hours for a Major in Environmental Studies: 58-83 (B.A); or 61-81 (B.S.)

Rationale: Several changes are recommended for each of the emphases within Environmental Studies. Addition of new courses, crosslistings, and update course titles. Adjustment of credit hours. Deletion of courses that are no longer taught. Energy Studies -- Change name to Sustainability and Energy and update description to reflect adjustments and make program available to B.A. students. Nature in Society -- Change name to Environmental Justice and update description to reflect adjusted emphasis. Environmental Policy -- Change name to Environmental Policy and Law and update description with more accurate details of what students learn in the emphasis. Water Sciences -- Delete entire emphasis. It is moving in an updated form to Earth, Atmosphere, and Environment. Sustainable Food Systems -- Change to Emphasis 5. Educator Licensure -- Change to Emphasis 6.

Impact Statement: All outside departments have been consulted regarding the addition of their courses to the ENVS programs. None of the departments identified any negative impact on course availability, enrollment, or teaching loads with these changes.

Rationale: 1) Because Math 416 satisfies many of the standards and performance indicators required for accreditation by outside agencies but can only be counted for accreditation as a required course, we propose changing Math 416 from an elective to a required course. 2) Instead of two separate lists from which students could choose one course each, we now condense the lists and students can choose one additional course from a single list. We also added Math 445, a new course that could enhance students’ data literacy, to the list of possible electives. There is no change to the number of credits needed for the program. 3) The ISBE no longer requires a minimal score on any of these tests for licensure. 4) Completion of first aid, drug abuse education, or other approved experiences are not required by the other secondary licensure programs at NIU. We want to align our requirements with other programs.

NNGO 402X - Resource Strategies for Nonprofit Organizations

Cross-listed as MGMT 402X and PSPA 402. Introductory survey of resource strategies for nongovernmental public service organizations; including fundraising, grant writing, volunteer management, and oversight roles.

Credits: 3
Rationale: The jointly appointed faculty to public administration and NNGO (Schatteman) created this course as the follow up to PSPA 301. We are requesting that PSPA 402 be crosslisted as NNGO 402X so we can also schedule and teach this class. PSPA 402 is an elective for NNGO majors and minors, and for the minor in social entrepreneurship as MGMT 402X (although it has never been offered as MGMT 402X). It has the potential to draw students from NNGO as well as MGMT but it has only ever been offered three times by PSPA (fall 2012, spring 2014 and spring 2016). NNGO would like to be able to offer this class which contributes to our offering of nonprofit classes for majors, minors, and certificate students; and could potentially interest MGMT students. Non-Duplication: None - not required for the cross-listing of an existing course.

Total Hours for a Major in Nonprofit and NGO Studies: 51-63 (B.A.) OR 63-68 (B.S.)

Rationale: 1) Move NNGO from required to elective -- Students currently have a choice among three courses (including NNGO 350) to fulfill the degree requirements. NNGO 350 has not been taught in several years. The other two courses are offered once per year so this change confirms what is already taking place in practice. Other departments also have courses that could fulfill the student’s interest in this area. 2) Addition to list of electives -- NNGO would like to add several new and relevant courses to the list of possible electives for the major and the minor. We also currently do not have many 200 level courses so this would assist students to take classes related to their area of interest sooner in the NNGO program. These courses are very relevant to the work of nonprofits and NGOs. We are also adding the NNGO courses that were approved last year, to our electives (NNGO 492 and NNGO 392x). 3) Revisions to ENVS 301, ENVS 302, ENVS 303, and ENVS 304.

Impact Statement: All of the departments (ANTH/REHB/WGSS) have been consulted regarding the addition of their courses to the list of requirements. None of the departments identified any negative impact on course availability, enrollment, or teaching loads with these changes.

Notification: Nonprofit and NGO Studies was notified of the ENVS changes via email on October 31, 2022.

Rationale: Update the title of NNGO 100. Remove NNGO 350 from the list of required courses since it has not been taught in several years. NNGO would like to add several new and relevant courses to the list of possible electives for the major and the minor. We also currently do not have many 200 level courses so this would assist students to take classes related to their area of interest sooner in the NNGO program. These courses are very relevant to the work of nonprofits and NGOs. Remove PSPA 301 since has been deleted; remove the X from NNGO 301X since it has been revised.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

New Course

POLS 385 - Global Environmental Problems

Crosslisted as ENVS 385X. Analysis of the international relations of global environmental problems with particular emphasis on cooperation and interstate negotiations.

Credits: 3

Rationale: Global environmental problems—climate change, biodiversity loss, depletion of freshwater resources, the hole in the ozone layer, the international transport of hazardous waste, and many more—have become increasingly pressing political concerns around the world. Our students are aware and concerned about these issues and have professional and personal interests in helping to find solution. This course will provide a background in the global nature of these political challenges and their proposed governance. Non-Duplication: The Departments of EAE and SOCI were consulted with regard to this course and has indicated there is no significant duplication with any of their current course offerings.

See “College Requirement for the B.S. Degree” in the Other Graduation Requirements section of this catalog.

Total Hours for a Major in Psychology: 38-51 (B.A.) OR 49-51 (B.S.)

Rationale: We are adding PSYC 414 to the lab course options for students, which was overlooked as a program change last year when the course was created. An ambiguity was brought to our attention by the CLAS advising office regarding the B.S. requirements. This change specifies that a C or better is required in STAT but not in PSYC 305.

Educator Licensure - Geology and Environmental Geosciences Earth and Space Science
SECTION A – For inclusion in the 2023-24 Undergraduate Catalog

Students seeking initial licensure in Earth and Space Science to teach in grades 9-12 (Standard High School License) must schedule an interview with the departmental licensure coordinator to formulate a specific plan of study.

Students seeking licensure will also major in geology and environmental geosciences Earth, Atmosphere and Environment unless they already hold a baccalaureate or higher degree in that discipline.

Undergraduate geology majors may apply for admission to educator licensure in Earth and Space Science at the end of their sophomore year, except in the case of transfer students who normally apply at the end of their first semester at NIU.

Students who already possess a baccalaureate or higher degree and wish to pursue licensure without becoming a candidate for a degree should consult with the geology departmental licensure advisor coordinator as early as possible to plan a course of study.

Admission Requirements

Requirements listed in this section are minimum requirements. Meeting these requirements will not guarantee students admission to the geology and environmental geosciences Earth and Space Science educator licensure program or courses.

Students will be admitted to the licensure program when they have:

- Submitted an application in writing to the departmental licensure coordinator.
- Earned a minimum GPA of 2.50 in all work at NIU.
- Earned a minimum combined GPA of 2.70 in all NIU science and mathematics courses numbered 200 and above in physical and biological sciences and mathematics.
- Completed a satisfactory interview with the coordinator in which the student demonstrates attitudes and motivations appropriate to the professional educator.
- Completed at least EAE 120, EAE 121, and at least 8 other credits counting toward the Earth and Space Science emphasis.
- Obtained approval from the department’s office of teacher licensure.
- 16 semester hours in geology and environmental geosciences courses numbered 300 and above.
- Completed the following with a grade of C- or better (higher numbered courses may be substituted, if approved by the coordinator and all of the following are available for general education credit).
SECTION A – For inclusion in the 2023-24 Undergraduate Catalog

- COMS 100 - Fundamentals of Oral Communication Credits: 3
- PSYC 102 - Introduction to Psychology Credits: 3

Retention Requirements

Requirements listed in this section are minimum requirements. Meeting these requirements will not guarantee students admission to the Earth and Space Science educator licensure program or courses.

Students admitted to the program must maintain the GPA requirements and complete a satisfactory review of progress each semester with the department's office of teacher licensure coordinator.

A grade of C- or better is required in all required course work listed for in the Earth and Space Science Education degree and teacher licensure program.

Completion Requirements

Current requirements include the possession of an appropriate baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution, a minimum of 32 semester hours in the field, pre-student teaching clinical experiences at the 6-12 grade level or proof of comparable teaching experience at the 6-12 level, student teaching or an approved teaching experience, passage of the Test of Academic Proficiency and secondary license subject matter Earth and Space Science examinations of the Illinois Licensure Testing System, and demonstration that the candidate has met all state and national science teaching standards.

Contact the licensure coordinator for information on the necessary criteria that experiences must meet to demonstrate fulfillment of licensure requirements.

Outlined below is the state-approved required course work for licensure in Earth and Space Science Education. It is strongly recommended that students completing requirements for the teaching license in Earth and Space Science Education also obtain an additional endorsement in at least one science subject (e.g., biology, chemistry, environmental science, and/or physics).

Please note: The following classes for educator licensure may change to reflect new semester immediately prior to enrollment in GEOL 428 and students are admitted to GEOL 487 only upon successful completion of the course work required for graduation and licensure. In addition, students must pass the ILTS Subject Matter test before student teaching.

The State of Illinois has established course- and standards-based requirements for licensure. Approved licensure programs must have requirements that meet or exceed the state requirements. A list of the current state minimum requirements is available for the Illinois State Board of Education web page.

Rationale: Update licensure program requirements for transparency and clarification. Revise GEOL designator to EAE.

Impact Statement: The EPS 406, EPS 452, and SESE 457 classes have been part of the licensure program for over 10 years. These courses are already listed in the catalog for the other four science disciplines (see links). Listing EPS 406, EPS 452, and SESE 457 does not reflect a change; it is updating the out-of-date Earth and Space program catalog language that has been in effect for a long time.

New Course  CLAS22.23.09.08  2022-23 UG Catalog  LINK

POLS 342 - Gender and Politics

This course deals with women in politics and offers a general survey of how women as a group have engaged in politics including: as outsiders through political participation, as insiders in government, and as the subject of policy action.

Credits: 3

Rationale: The year 2022 marks 102 years since the ratification of the 19th amendment, granting American Women the right to vote in national elections. At the same time, we are seeing a world-wide conversation about the role women play in politics. We will consider the effects of gender on electoral behavior and political institutions, as well as the ways in which law, public policy, and politics shape gender relations. From citizens, activists and social movements, to candidates and political leaders, this course will investigate the causes and consequences of women’s participation (or barriers to participation) in politics. Non-Duplication: The Department of History and Center for the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality were consulted with regard to this course and have indicated there is no significant duplication with any of their current course offerings.

POLS 370 - Ethnicity, Religion, and Global Politics

Comparative analysis of interactions between ethnicity, religion, and politics across various nations to explore current global affairs and state policy-making in diverse cultural, social, and political environments.

Credits: 3

Rationale: Cultural institutions and identities—ethnicity and religion—have grown a pivotal force in politics and state policy-making globally. Until recently, however, political science largely neglected the questions pertinent to ethnicity and religion in their political analysis. Such neglect is no longer beneficial for our understanding of significant current affairs and new political phenomena home and abroad, such as Anti-Abortion movement and constitutional debate, gender and minority rights, Far Right movement and populist nationalism, and the Ukrainian war to name just a few prominent examples. Through comparative observations of ethnic and religious politics in diverse cultural, social, and national settings, this proposed course intends to help students not only to learn basic analytical and conceptual tools and competing perspectives to explore these timely topics, but also to gain a deeper knowledge about complex real world problems to engage in public policy debates. Non-Duplication: The Departments of ANTH and SOCI were consulted with regard to this course and have indicated there is no significant duplication with any of their current course offerings.

Total Hours for a Major in Sociology, Emphasis 2. Criminology: 41-54 (B.A.) or 51-54 (B.S.)

Rationale: The rationale for the first proposed change (to require at least six hours at the 300-level) is to build student understanding of the role of theory, methods, and the extant literature in the scientific investigation of social issues, which are developed more significantly in our 300-level courses compared to our 200-level courses. Our 400-level courses involve the application of theory and methods to a social topic, and thus the requirement of two 300-level courses will better prepare our students for the content of the two 400-level courses that they are required to take assuming the following a sequencing of 200-level, 300-level, 400-level. A student taking four 200-level courses is not as well-prepared for the 400-level courses in comparison to a student taking at least two 300-level courses. Thus, this change will help increase the chances of student success and mastery in the 400-level courses they are required to take. Emphasis 2 (“Criminology”) of our BA/BS program has a two 300-level course requirement, and thus the requirements for our two emphases will match with this proposed change to Emphasis 1, “General Sociology”. Additionally, other programs on campus have 300-level course requirements (such as ANTH, COMS, HIST, PSYCH) presumably for similar pedagogical reasons, and thus this is not a unique SOCI requirement. The remaining six hours of SOCI electives can be at the 200/300/400 level based on student choice/interest.

The rationale for the second proposed change is that the two courses (SOCI 387, “Torture and Police Violence”; SOCI 484, “Rethinking Justice: Alternatives to the Traditional Court System”) are criminology-based courses and thus should be included in the Criminology emphasis courses.

Remove the parenthesis around (With approval of department) under SOCI 490 in Group C for consistency through the program.

Rationale: The General Elementary Pathway is still an approved program with the Illinois State Board of Education for students from Northern Illinois University. This program is still in APS under C and I on NIU data bases and was on hiatus status, not terminated. The candidates in this program, like other emphasis areas, earn the initial elementary 1-6 teaching licensure. This original elementary program allowed open electives or time to earn minors in study areas of interest for our students. The term emphasis was used to make the catalogue language parallel in hopes this would help students better understand their options.

The changing needs and environments of our schools due to COVID and social unrest in this country have altered the expectations of the role of teachers. It is no longer sufficient for teachers to limit their expertise and skills to instruction. There is a need for a variety of knowledge if teachers are to provide support for our struggling students. The examples of “encouraged” electives for possible minors evolved from student interest in counseling, social justice and an increase in elementary dual language teaching positions needing Southeastern Asian languages, and the growing equity emphasis in our regional elementary schools. Many students are interested in pursuing minors in areas including those listed as possibilities in the above catalog changes, but due to the rigid nature of the other pathways, adding a minor would, in most cases, prevent students from being able to graduate within even a 5-year window, despite taking full-time coursework. The flexibility of the general pathway would allow for students to fulfill course requirements for a minor while also earning their Elementary Education degree and licensure.

Additionally, the on-going teacher shortage in Illinois, the Elementary Education program is seeing an influx of transfer students who are interested in specifically pursuing Elementary Education, without a set, specific second endorsement area. Many of these students enter NIU with significant credit that does not apply to our existing pathways. The general Elementary Education pathway will provide more flexibility for students in this population, allowing them to progress toward Elementary Education licensure in a more streamlined fashion. The general elementary option will support the increasing number of transfer students’ who are interested in specifically pursuing Elementary Education, without a set, specific second endorsement area. The fifteen hours of electives is what finishes the required amount of credit hours for the degree program. Candidates may select minors that could require more than 15 hours however the identified number of hours would meet program hours for graduation.
Finally, many students are interested in working to fulfill coursework deficiencies for second endorsements in areas other than those already covered by the existing pathways. A general pathway would allow flexibility for these students to pursue a second endorsement area of their choice while also earning their Elementary Education degree and licensure.

NNGO 100 - Community Leadership and Civic Engagement Foundations of Nonprofit and NGO Studies for Social Changemakers

Introduction to community leadership and civic engagement including avenues for making contributions to community and society. Emphasis placed on nonprofit organizations, public service, volunteering, activism, and philanthropy, locally and globally, the interdisciplinary field of nonprofit and non-governmental organization studies inside and outside the U.S. Explore the historical role of nonprofits and NGOs as caretakers and changemakers in civil society, their current roles in community building, political activism and economic development, ethical frameworks guiding action in the sector and the major responsibilities of nonprofit leaders including setting strategy, managing employees and volunteers, fundraising, and board governance.

Credits: 3

Rationale: NNGO 100 was created to introduce students to the field and for recruitment into the major, minor or certificate (formerly Community Leadership and Civic Engagement). We decided not to change the course title/content and kept the original

Credits: 3

Rationale: We would like to change PSYC 101 from a PRQ to a CRQ because a) we have seen early enrollment into PSYC 101 by native students, and b) the PSYC 101 as a PRQ might negatively impact transfer students. PSYC 101 is designed to help students become acquainted with the discipline, explore career and graduate school options, select curricular and extracurricular activities suited to their goals, and build personal and professional skills for a future in psychology. Although we think PSYC 101 will be most beneficial to students if they take it early in their time at NIU (which prompted us to identify it as a PRQ for PSYC 305 rather than a CRQ), the knowledge and skills acquired in PSYC 101 should not negatively impact performance in PSYC 305. Moreover, students seem very eager to take PSYC 101 early on, which is facilitated by advisors. In other words, this concern is not warranted. Additional, PSYC 101 as a PRQ may negatively impact transfer students who enter NIU with junior standing because it requires that they take PSYC 101 prior to PSYC 305. It may be helpful for these students to take PSYC 101 and PSYC 305 at the same time in order to stay on track for graduation. Approval: The revision and checklist items have been reviewed and approved by the CLAS Curricular Dean on October 28, 2022.

Prerequisites & Notes

PRQ: BIOS 208, BIOS 209, BIOS 210, and BIOS 211.

Credits: 4 3

Rationale: The revised course description is meant to be more accessible to students. The PRQs can be revised to reduce redundancy because BIOS 208 and 210 (or BIOS 103 and 105, but bio majors have to take BIOS 208 and 210) are PRQs for BIOS 209 and 211. The schedule change will avoid conflicts between this course and those with similar topics, such as Conservation Biology and Restoration Ecology. Finally, Biology students are currently required to take 6 courses with required lab elements as part of their core curriculum (BIOS 210, BIOS 211, BIOS 308, CHEM 212, CHEM 213, PHYS 210, PHYS 211 (we are in the process of removing PHYS211)). Many of our upper-level courses in BIOS also have a required lab element. To allow students more flexibility in scheduling, such that they can take BIOS 300 level courses as prep for upper level (BIOS 400 level courses) I propose removing the lab from this course. Many of our other BIOS 300 course offerings also do NOT contain a lab element, including BIOS 302, 303, 317, 341x, 355. Conservation Biology (BIOS 406), Restoration Ecology (BIOS 407), and Birds and Mammals (BIOS 457) have experiential (lab or field) type experiences for those interested in Ecology topics.

INTER-COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY-WIDE INTERDISCIPLINARY

Course Revision 2022-23 UG Catalog [LINK]

UNIV 301 - Leadership and Career Accelerator
A foundational, interdisciplinary course that prepares undergraduate students for the increasingly competitive, globalized job marketplace by introducing students to professional networks, cultivates teamwork skills, strengthens professional communication skills across modalities, and develops leadership skills through project management of a cohort capstone. An additional focus is on individual development through authentic narrative building. This allows students to create professional, yet meaningful, resumes, interview answers, reciprocal networking connections, and a roadmap for success beyond the classroom. Pre-requisite: Sophomore standing or consent of department (undergraduate students only)

Rationale: This course was designed by our new partner, Braven, and was developed with the intention for second year students specifically. Additionally, we've come across graduate students who have enrolled and is only open to undergraduate students at this time and hope by these two updates, it will help bring a larger awareness to our sophomore population and undergraduate students and avoiding graduate students from enrolling. We are open to allowing other student standings into the course but is helpful to track how many we have allowed who are not sophomores for Braven’s records and our own.
