SCOPE AND CONTENT

A church fire in November 1927 destroyed a portion of this organization's historical manuscripts. Nevertheless, the remaining records provide sufficient documentation for a thorough study of the Wheatland Salem United Methodist Church's history. Of primary importance are the church minutes dating from 1860 to 1963 (1916-1947 are missing.) describing organizational changes, building or expansion problems, and general church business. In addition, quarterly conference records (1920-1967) detail administration, financial, and interorganizational policies. The treasurer's account books furnish a wealth of information on the church's financial development through the Depression years to the early 1960's (1931-1963). Supplementary records, including membership records (1920-1948), burial records (1861-1904), and bulletins and newsletters complete the general church record series. The remaining materials partially document the Sunday School (1916-1952), Ladies' Aid Society (1908-1948), Women's Society for World Service (1959-1975), Young Peoples Alliance (later the Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor, 1908-1942), Crusaders (1946-1949), Philathea Class (1923-1946), Young Men's Bible Class (1919-1928), Salem Brotherhood (1934-1954), and the church choir and drama club. Finally, a small series of photographs depict church construction and some of the congregation. The addenda added at a later date consists of information on the Northern Illinois Conference of the United Methodist Church archives, a family membership roll, and a church register that includes a record of pastors, members, marriages, baptisms, deaths, and statistics.

Researchers should note that one minute book discussing church construction is in German. In addition, the historical file (Box 1, Folder 1) contains a detailed historical sketch as well as anniversary booklets. Researchers also are encouraged to consult other church collections held by the Regional History Center for complementary information: Unitarian Fellowship (RC 13); DeKalb First Congregational Church (RC 17); DeKalb First United Methodist Church (RC 24); St. Paul's Episcopal Church, DeKalb (RC 55); Rockford First Lutheran Church (RC 83); Salem Lutheran Church, Sandwich (RC 84); and Trinity Lutheran Church, Mt. Morris (RC 104).

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The missionary zeal of preachers at Naperville, Plainfield, and Oswego led to the formation of new church societies in the surrounding area. The Wheatland Salem United Methodist Church grew from the formation of two of these societies, Wheatland and Copenhagen, both of Wheatland township in Will County.

The Wheatland society organized in 1860 under the leadership of Samuel Dickover. A service, officiated by Bishop J.J. Esher, dedicated the church building on October 2, 1870. The society functioned prosperously until 1894 when a declining membership forced the church to close its doors.

The Copenhagen Church's history began at the home of Enos Stark of Wheatland, Illinois on December 26, 1860. The society built and dedicated a church at the cross roads near David Brown's home on May 5, 1861. Membership increased to 53 in 1888 and the Plainfield and Wheatland circuit began serving the Copenhagen Church. By 1905 the society deemed it necessary to either repair the old church or erect a new one. A dispute arose when some members requested that a new church be constructed one and a half miles south for convenience. In 1907 the members finally decided to agree on the new location. Simultaneously, they sent a petition to the Illinois Conference Session for permission to combine the defunct Wheatland Church and the Copenhagen Church. On April 5, 1908 Bishop S. P. Spreng held dedication services for the new church--the Salem Church.

The Salem Church continued to be served with Plainfield until 1920. On November 23, 1927 a fire completely destroyed the church building. Rather than remodeling the old structure, the society built a new church dedicated on November 25, 1928. By 1936, the church association requested that a parsonage be built for the residing pastor; they dedicated the manse on December 20, 1936. A few years later, 1947, the congregation decided to light the picture window of the sanctuary at night. To this day, the Wheatland Salem United Methodist Church is known as the "Church with the Lighted Window."
